REGISTRATION FOR The Rosetta LeNoire Musical Theatre Academy

Seeking Talented Young People 12-18

The Rosetta LeNoire Musical Theatre Academy is the flagship education program of New York's award-winning Amas Musical Theatre, a non-profit performing arts organization celebrating diversity, and bringing communities of all backgrounds and colors together through the development and production of new musicals and the education and training of young people.

The Academy meets on Saturdays 9:45-4:30. Classes in singing, acting, and dance, as well as related performance skills. A public presentation is held in January for parents and friends. In May 2018 students perform a fully-produced Off-Broadway musical. Classes are held at the Jackie Kennedy Onassis High School on West 46th Street in Manhattan. Students are accepted into the program by auditions held in early October 2017. Classes begin October 21st, 2017.

30-35 students are selected on the basis of talent, potential and ability in the performing arts. Classes are conducted by established New York theatre professionals and offer the opportunity for students to develop their talents in a nurturing and supportive environment. In addition to scheduled classes, special guest artists meet and work with students.

The Rosetta LeNoire Musical Theatre Academy has been featured in The New York Times, The Amsterdam News, The New York Post, and on NY1.

Tuition for the Academy is $1,750 for 25 weeks of instruction and a two-week Off-Off-Broadway Production.

Full and partial scholarships are available for eligible students.
